QUESTIONS PRESENTED FOR REVIEW

Did the Court err by dismissing my appeal ? Does the panel decision to dismiss my appeal conform with the Constitution of the United States of America and the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure, specifically Rule 25?

The Defendants mailed "letters" to the Appellate Court which were "deemed" to be "motions" by the Appellate Court. If the "deemed motions" did not comply with Rule 25. Did the Court err in deeming the "letters" sent by the Defendants to be "motions"? Did the courts actions deny my right to "due process"?

The Third Circuit made my appeal contingent upon the disposition of the appeal of my criminal conviction before the Superior Court Appellate Division. Although the appeal of my criminal conviction before the Superior Court Appellate Division was dismissed. The dismissal of the appeal before the Superior Court Appellate Division was temporary in nature and was not due to any oversight on my part. The appeal of my criminal conviction before the Superior Court Appellate Division was reinstated. The Third Circuit was notified prior to their order dismissing my appeal before them, that the appeal of my criminal conviction before the Superior Court Appellate Division had been reinstated.

Did the Third Circuit err in refusing to reinstate my said appeal?

JURISDICTION

The United States Court of Appeals has entered a decision, which is in conflict with Constitution of the United States of America, and has so far departed from the accepted and usual course of judicial proceedings, as to call for an exercise of the court's supervisory power.

The United States Court of Appeals has decided an important question of federal law that conflicts with relevant decisions of this court.

The date of the decision was September 8, 2005.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The matter before this court involves two separate complaints, which arose out of two separate causes of action. Early in the case, the Federal District Court in Newark on it's own initiative consolidated the two complaints D.C. of NJ Civil Nos. 02-cv-02926 & 02 cv-03902. The original complaints are connected by events that transpired, after the death of my father Hugh Stephen Culpepper. The District Court then dismissed the resulting consolidated complaint, by way of summary judgment.

I appealed the dismissal order of the consolidated complaint to the Third Circuit Court of Appeals. In turn, that Court granted the motion staying the appeal in question, pending the disposition of my appeal of my criminal conviction before the New Jersey Superior Court Appellate Division.(Exhibit I)

The original law suit charges the defendants with malicious prosecution among other charges, which linked it to my criminal conviction's appeal.

Because of my criminal appeal's lawyer's failure to timely file a brief with New Jersey Superior Court of Appeals, the court then dismissed the case. At that point, my lawyer Leslie Sinemus immediately remedied this oversight by filing a motion to reinstate, which was granted. (Exhibit G)

By then, the Third Circuit then dismissed the civil suit's appeal before them, based on "letters" from the Defendants, which were deemed "motions". These "motions or letters" from the defendants stated that the appeal of my criminal conviction had been dismissed. A request which was premature, because my criminal conviction appeal's dismissal before New Jersey Superior Court Appellate

Division, was due to an oversight on the part of my criminal defense lawyer Leslie Sinemus and that appeal was again reinstated as stated above. (Exhibit G)

The Third Circuit was informed of these developments as part of their order granting me an Extension to File Appeal. They were informed, as per their previous instructions to file a report on the status of my criminal appeal before the New Jersey Superior Court Appellate Division, every 45 days with the Third Circuit (Exhibit I).

Once The Third circuit was notified that the criminal appeal before the New Jersey Superior Court Appellate Division had been reinstated, before their final dismissal order, the Third Circuit then refused to reinstate the case to its previous status.

I also filed an affidavit addressing the dismissal of the appeal of my criminal conviction, which was filed with the Third Circuit (Exhibit A). My criminal defense lawyer Leslie Sinemus also filed a certification with regard to the matter (Exhibit B).

Reasons for Granting Petition

On December 30, 2004 my motion for a stay of my appeal and granting an extension to file my appeal before the Third Circuit Court of Appeals was granted. The order directed me to file with the clerk's office, a written status report within 45 days of the order and every 45 days thereafter, until the Superior Court Appellate Division proceedings have been concluded.

Subsequently and unbeknownst to me, I found out that my criminal appeal before the Superior Court had been dismissed. On March 15th 2005, I filed an affidavit to the Third Circuit which states in relevant part (Exhibit A):

"Additionally, and to my serious distress and dismay. I learned that because Mrs. Sinemus has been ill. She had not timely filed the brief to pursue my criminal appeal in the Superior Court, and it had been dismissed. This was through no fault of my own and I did not know before last week that the appeal had been dismissed."

"Mrs. Sinemus has returned to work full time, having received and continuing to receive treatment for her condition, and she has assured me that she is immediately moving to reinstate my appeal and move my case forward. See certification of Mrs. Sinemus. Attached hereto."

"I respectfully request that this Court continue the stay, Despite the temporary status of the appeal as dismissed, Based upon Mrs. Sinemus's representations that she is immediately moving to have the appeal reinstated, and based upon the that the temporary status as dismissed is due to her illness, and not due to any fault or lack of effort on my part. We will of course, report to the court as to all developments in the Superior Court case, as they occur or as this court directs."

The concept of judicial review has been a linchpin of American law for more than 200 years now. The panel denied my appeal based on "letters" sent to the court by the defendants which were "deemed motions" by the panel. These deemed motions, had they been such, they were never properly served on me by the defendants per rule 25.

I was not made aware, nor informed that the letters which the panel "deemed motions" had been reclassified as such by the panel until I received an order from the panel denying my appeal.

deem, To treat something as if (1) it were really something else, or (2) has qualities that it doesn't have. 2. To consider, think or judge.
"Black's Law Dictionary 7th abridged"

Did the Court err in deeming those letters from the Defendants to be motions? Are the actions of the Third Circuit a deprivation of my right to Due Process with respect to the Fourteenth Amendment of Constitution of the United States of America in general, and the Fifth Amendment of the United States of America in particular?

Did the Court err in not applying the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure Rule 25 to the Defendant's "deemed motions" in that the failure of the defendants in this matter to properly serve their deemed motions on me in accordance with Rule 25?

The defendant's premise that my appeal before the New Jersey Superior Court has been dismissed is no longer true and was not true at the time the Third Circuit Court of Appeals signed the order dismissing my appeal. The appeal before the New Jersey Superior Court Appellate Division had been reinstated (Exhibit G).

I sent a copy of the affidavit filed with the Third Circuit to the defendants involved in this matter. Rather than wait for the decision from the Superior Court Appellate Division on the matter, the defendant's immediately sent letters to the Third Circuit demanding that my appeal before Third Circuit be dismissed.

I then sent a copy of the letter from the New Jersey Attorney General's office dated July 18th 2004 to the Third Circuit which directed the Bergen County Prosecutor's office to file a brief in the matter. That letter was sent in compliance with the Third Circuit's order dated August 10th 2004 which directed me to file a report every 45 days with regard to the status of the appeal of my criminal conviction before the New Jersey Superior Court Appellate Division

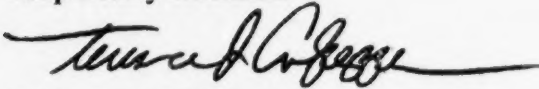

I sent a copy of the order from the New Jersey Superior Court Appellate Division dated June 13th 2004 to the Third Circuit Court of appeals.

CONCLUSION

Based upon the foregoing analysis, the judgment of the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit should be reversed.

The Writ of Certiorari should be granted.

Respectfully submitted

AFFIDAVIT OF APPELLANT

TERENCE CULPEPPER, Appellant pro se, being duly sworn and upon his oath, says as follows:

1. I am the Appellant in the above-captioned matter. I make these statements upon personal knowledge.
2. On December 30, 2004, the Court granted my motion to file a Consolidated Brief and Appendix, also construed as a motion to Stay the Appeals pending the Appeal in the Superior Court of New Jersey and to Stay the Briefing Schedule. For the Court's convenience, a copy of the Order is appended hereto as "Exhibit A."
3. In addition to the stay of this appeal, the Order provided, in relevant part, that "Counsel for appellant is directed to file with the Clerk's Office a written status report within 45 days from the date of this order, and every 45 days thereafter, until the Superior Court proceedings have been concluded."
4. I understood the order to mean that my attorney who is handling the State court appeal was to file the status report. I forwarded the Court's Order to my state court attorney, Leslie Stolbof Sinemus, Esq. with the understanding that she would file the report. I did not understand that because she is not my attorney of record in this Court, that she cannot file documents on my behalf in this Court.
5. I have since learned that she has been in ill health, and she did not respond to my request to file the status report pursuant to the Court's Order. A certification of Mrs. Sinemus is appended hereto as "Exhibit B."

6. Additionally, and to my serious distress and dismay, I learned that because Mrs. Sinemus has been ill, she has not timely filed the brief to pursue my appeal in the Superior Court, and it has been dismissed. This was through no fault of my own and I did not know before last week that the appeal was dismissed.

7. Mrs. Sinemus has returned to work full time, having received and continuing to receive treatment for her condition, and she has assured me that she is immediately moving to reinstate my appeal and move my case forward. See, certification of Mrs. Sinemus, attached hereto.

8. I respectfully request that this Court continue the stay, despite the temporary status of the appeal as dismissed, based upon Mrs. Sinemus's representations that she is immediately moving to have the appeal reinstated, and based upon the fact that the temporary status as dismissed is due to her illness, and not due to any fault or lack of effort on my part. We will, of course, report to the Court as to all developments in the Superior Court case, as they occur or as this Court directs.

CERTIFICATION OF LESLIE STOLBOF

LESLIE STOLBOF SINEMUS hereby certifies and says:

1. I am an attorney at law in the State of New Jersey. I represent Mr. Terence Culpepper as appellant in his appeal of a state court conviction, which appeal was docketed as A-6070-02T3.

2. By way of background, I was admitted to the New Jersey bar in 1979, clerked in the Appellate Division of the New Jersey Superior Court, joined the Essex County Prosecutor's Office from 1980 until 1987. Upon entering private practice I concentrated on criminal defense work along with commercial litigation. In 1995 I became a member of the Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers - NJ, and in 2000 I was elected to the Board of Trustees of that organization. I have chaired their Amicus committee for the last three years. In addition to the administrative duties of the committee, I also represented the ACDL-NJ in its amicus petition in State v. Thomahl Cook, 179 N.J. 533; 847 A. 2d 530 (2004) in which, in January, 2004, we argued to the Court that any interrogation preceding a confession must be recorded to properly preserve the evidence of voluntariness or lack thereof. Now, for the first time, and as a result of the Cook decision, there is a New Jersey Supreme Court committee working on recommendations concerning the implementation of such a rule.

3. Unfortunately, shortly after the argument in Cook a number of influences began to negatively impact my life, and as a solo practitioner, my practice. I had to go to Florida for several weeks to handle affairs pertaining to my mother who is nearly 81 years old. Upon my return from Florida, I had to file a letter-memorandum in the Cook case in emergent response to the Attorney General's promulgating new guidelines wherein police and prosecutors were directed to record (only) confessions, in only homicide cases, in an explicit effort to influence the Court's anticipated decision. When I finished the memorandum, I was sick, with a double ear infection coupled with vertigo, and sinus infection, which condition has returned no less than six times in the last eight months. Each recurrence forced me out of work for a week or more, and the recovery both in terms of my health and the health of my practice, has been arduous. In October, 2004, I went to St. Barnabas Hospital due to chest pains, and was admitted for four days. While the discomfort was not cardiac related, I was advised that it was a gastro-intestinal disorder directly related to stress. Finally, I have been diagnosed with excess potassium in my blood, which has apparently been causing a whole host of difficulties again making my performance less than optimum. My doctor has not yet determined the cause of this imbalance, and my blood must be monitored frequently as this situation can, as I now know, actually be fatal if not controlled.

4. During this difficult period, Mr. Culpepper's appeal was dismissed. I should not have allowed that to happen and assume full responsibility. It is in no way Mr. Culpepper's fault and he should not be prejudiced as a result of my difficulties.

5. I am intending to move to have the appeal in the state court reinstated in the immediate future. I anticipate that the Court (NJ) will insist that the brief be filed along with any motion to reinstate, and I anticipate having the brief ready to file, along with the motion, by early next week ( the week of March 21st) if not sooner.

6. I now realize that this Court has stayed the proceedings in Mr. Culpepper's matters before the Third Circuit. Before Mr. Culpepper forwarded me this Court's Order of December 30, 2004, I was unaware that a Third Circuit matter was dependant upon the appeal in the Superior Court. Nonetheless, I apologize to this Court for the delay and for any other inconvenience that may have been caused. Although I am not before this Court in that I do not represent Mr. Culpepper in this litigation, I would still urge the Court to continue the stay entered on December 30, 2004, so that no prejudice inures to Mr. Culpepper as a consequence of my difficulties.

I hereby certify that the foregoing statements made by me are true and that I am aware that if any of the foregoing statements made by me are wilfully false, I am subject to punishment.

MARTINI, DISTRICT JUDGE:

Presently before this Court are motions to dismiss the two consolidated complaints filed on behalf of the following Defendants: Judge Marguerite Simon, Judge Bruce Gaeta, Rem Zeller Law Group, Joseph Rem, Robert Zeller, Theresa Doyle, ERA Burgdorf Realtors, Mary Ellen Flannery, Randolph Wine, Peter Jeffer, Mary Jean Culpepper, Bergen County, Frank Risse, and Catherine Risse. In addition, a Motion for Summary Judgment was filed on behalf of Defendants Captain Robert Hammerle, Chief James O'Connor, Borough of Oakland, Officer Mark Piercy, Borough of Oakland Police Department, Officer Frank Fiori, John Conte, Jr., and Officer Brian Coglein. The allegations in each separate complaint (02-CV-2963 and 02-CV-3902) are connected to events that transpired after the death of Hugh Stephen Culpepper, the father of Plaintiff Terence Culpepper and one of the Defendants, Mary Jean Culpepper. Following the father's death, brother and sister Culpepper were named executors of the estate, which consisted of the deceased's home where Plaintiff resided at the time of his father's death. The complaints filed by Terence Culpepper arise from inter-familial disputes regarding the appropriate handling of the Culpepper estate.

STANDARDS OF REVIEW

A. Motion to Dismiss

In deciding a motion to-dismiss under Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6), the Court must accept as true all allegations made in the complaint, and construe the allegations in the light most favorable to the plaintiff. See Warth v. Seldin, 422 U.S. 490, 501 (1975); Trump Hotels & Casino Resorts Inc. v. Mirage Resorts Inc., 140 F.3d 478, 483 (3d Cir. 1998). In evaluating a Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim, a court may consider only the complaint, exhibits attached to the complaint, matters of public record, and undisputedly authentic documents if the plaintiffs claims are based on those documents. Pension Benefit Guar. Corp. v. White Consol. Indus., 998 F.2d 1192, 1196 (3d Cir. 1993). If it appears that no relief could be granted "under any set of facts which could prove consistent with the allegations," then a court may dismiss a complaint for failure to state a claim. Hishon v. King & Spaulding, 467 U.S. 69, 73 (1984). With respect to a pro se litigant, the court must "find it is clear 'beyond doubt that the plaintiff can prove no set of facts in support of his claim which would entitle him to relief.'" Zynn v. O'Donnell, 688 F.2d 940, 941 (3d Cir. 1982).

B. Summary Judgment

Summary judgment may be granted only when there is no genuine issue of material fact and the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Fed. R. Civ. P. 56; Celetox Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 322 (1986). An issue of material fact is genuine if the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the non-moving party. Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986). In deciding a motion for summary judgment, a Court must construe the facts and inferences in a light most favorable to the non-moving party. Matsushita Elec. Indus. Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 587 (1986). However, only disputes over those facts "that might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law will properly preclude the entry of summary judgment." Anderson, 477 U.S. at 248. Once the moving party has carried its initial burden of demonstrating the absence of a genuine issue of material fact, "its opponent must do more than simply show that there is some metaphysical doubt as to the material facts." Matsushita, 475 U.S. at 586. No issue for trial exists unless the nonmoving party can adduce sufficient evidence favoring it such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict in that party's favor. Anderson, 477 U.S. at 249.

DISCUSSION

A. Complaint Against Municipal Defendants (02-C V-2963)

On June 22, 2001, at Defendant Mary Jean

Culpepper's request, Defendant Officers Hammerle, Piercy and Fiori accompanied her to the Culpepper house.<sup>1</sup> When the Defendants arrived, Plaintiff, who was living at the house, explained to them that because some of his personal property had been stolen from the house, Defendant Mary Jean Culpepper "was not entitled to unannounced visits whenever she pleased." 02-CV-2963 Complaint, at ¶ 17. The Defendant Officers eventually left, but Defendant Mary Jean Culpepper remained at the house. Later that same day, Defendant the Borough of Oakland Police Department received a call from Defendant Mary Jean Culpepper, who reported that she was at the Culpepper home and that the Plaintiff had threatened to kill her at gunpoint. The Defendant Officers were dispatched to the scene, and Plaintiff Culpepper was arrested. He was charged with the following:.

<sup>1</sup>The Complaint contains allegations that certain Defendants appeared at the Culpepper house on other days prior to June 22, 2001. However, it does not appear that this conduct is associated with the constitutional violations that Plaintiff alleges. 1) threatening to kill Defendant Mary Jean Culpepper or placing her in imminent fear of death, in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:12-3b; (2) unlicensed possession of an assault firearm, in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:58-5, 2C:58-12, 2C: 58-13, and 2C:39-5f; and (3) possession of a large capacity ammunition magazine in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:39-3j.

Municipal Defendants' Stmt. of Facts, at ¶ 10. The weapons possession charges later were dismissed. See 02-CV-2963 Complaint, at ^ 39. On April 10, 2003, Plaintiff was found guilty of violating N.J.S.A. 2C: 12-3(b), "Terrorist Threats," by a jury in the Superior Court, Criminal Part, Bergen County. See Certification of Christopher Botta ("Botta Cert."), at ¶ 3. Prior to his conviction, Plaintiff filed a civil rights complaint in federal court alleging false arrest, malicious prosecution, and other constitutional violations.

AL    *Section 1983 False Arrest Claim Against Municipal Defendants

Plaintiffs complaint (02-CV- 2963) alleges a claim for false arrest under Section 1983 against the Defendant Officers. A Section 1983 claim requires a plaintiff to show that a defendant who acted under the color of state law deprived him or her of a constitutional or federal statutory right. Curley v. Klem, 298 F.3d 271, 277 (3d Cir. 2002). To succeed on a Section 1983 false arrest claim, Plaintiff must show that the police did not have probable cause to arrest. Groman v. Township of Manalapan, 47 F.3d 628, 634 (3d Cir. 1995). Probable cause exists when police officers rely upon trustworthy information that would lead a reasonably prudent person to believe the arrested party committed the crime. Id. An officer acting with probable cause, even if such a belief is mistaken, is entitled to qualified immunity. Hunter v. Bryant, 502 U.S. 224, 229 (1991). On a motion for summary judgment, the court may find "that probable cause exists as a matter of law if the evidence viewed most favorably to Plaintiff would not support a contrary factual finding." Merkle v. Upper Dublin High School, 211 F.3d 782, 788-89 (3d Cir. 2000).

In the present case, the Defendant officers contend that they were dispatched to the Culpepper house on June 22, 2001, after Defendant Mary Jean Culpepper called the Borough of Oakland Police Department to report that her brother had threatened to shoot her with a gun. See Municipal Defendants' Stmt. of Facts, at ¶ 4. Officer Hess arrived first on the scene, observed Plaintiff driving away from the house, and ordered him to stop. See id. at ¶ 6.<sup>2</sup> After Plaintiff complied with this order, he was advised to remain in his vehicle with his hands outside of the window. See id. at ¶ 8. Once other police units arrived, Plaintiff was placed under arrest. At the time of his arrest, Plaintiff informed the officers that there were weapons in his vehicle. A rifle and handgun were found on the rear seat. See id. at ¶ 9.

The Court has thoroughly reviewed Plaintiff's submissions, including the pro se complaint and Plaintiff's "Statement of Material Facts," and concludes that Plaintiff has failed to raise a genuine issue of material fact as to whether the Defendant Officers acted with probable cause. Plaintiff does not dispute that on June 22, 2001, Mary Jean Culpepper called the Borough of Oakland police department and reported that Plaintiff had threatened her with a weapon. Furthermore, Plaintiff does not dispute that he drove away from the Culpepper house as one of the officers arrived at the scene, or that the officers found weapons in his car when they detained him. Significantly, Plaintiff does not deny that he threatened his sister with harm. In short, Plaintiff neither contests Defendants' factual assertions nor offers a competing version of the facts leading up to his arrest. Plaintiffs complaint scarcely mentions the events directly preceding his arrest, and thus the complaint provides little insight into Plaintiffs version of events.<sup>3</sup>

When viewed in light most favorable to the Plaintiff, the factual record establishes that the Defendants had probable cause to arrest Plaintiff on June 22, 2001. It was appropriate for the Officers to rely upon the information that Mary Jane Culpepper provided the Borough of Oakland dispatcher - namely, that Plaintiff had threatened to cause her harm and was armed with a weapon. This information afforded the Defendant Officers with a sufficient basis to stop and detain Plaintiff after he left the Culpepper house as the Defendant officers arrived at the scene. Furthermore, when the Defendants detained Plaintiff, they found a firearm lying on the backseat of the car, and, subsequently, Plaintiff told the Defendants that another gun was in the car. Given the totality of the circumstances, the facts available to the Defendant Officers at the time of Plaintiffs arrest are "sufficient to warrant a prudent man in believing that the suspect had committed or was committing an offense." Sharrar v. Felsing, 128 F.3d 810, 817 (3d Cir. 1997). Accordingly, the Defendant Officers acted with probable cause when they arrested Plaintiff for violating the weapons possession statutes and for threatening to harm Mary Jean Culpepper.<sup>4</sup>

<sup>3</sup>Paragraphs 39 and 40 of the Complaint mention the weapons possession charges in the context of accusing the Defendants of failing to ask Plaintiff his version of the events. It is not clear if the

"event" to which Plaintiff refers is the day of his arrest, or some other day when police officers had been called to the Culpepper house. The Complaint identifies a number of dates, both prior to and after June 22, 2001, at which time Plaintiff had contact with the Defendant Officers.

<sup>4</sup>Presumably in reference to the false arrest claim, Plaintiff asserts that "[n]one of the defendant's [sic] named above investigated any of the charges against me." Plaintiffs Memorandum, at p. 2. Even assuming the truth of this statement, the issue of whether the Defendant police officers conducted an investigation after Plaintiffs arrest is immaterial to whether probable cause existed at the time of Plaintiff's arrest. Thus, this assertion does not provide a disputed issue of material fact which would defeat Defendants' motion of summary judgment on the false arrest claim.

<sup>5</sup>Specifically, the provision under which Plaintiff was convicted states that a "person is guilty of a crime in the third degree if he threatens to kill another with purpose to put him in imminent fear of death under circumstances reasonably causing the victim to believe the immediacy of the threat and the likelihood that it will be carried out." N.J.S.A. 2C:12-3(b).

A2. Section 1983 Malicious Prosecution Claim Against Defendant John Conte, Jr.

Plaintiff alleges that John Conte, Jr., maliciously prosecuted him on the charges for which Plaintiff was arrested. In order to succeed on a malicious prosecution claim, Plaintiff must demonstrate that: "(1) defendants initiated a criminal proceeding against [him]; (2) which resulted in a seizure; (3) the criminal prosecution ended in [his] favor; (4) the criminal prosecution was initiated without probable cause; and (5) defendants acted maliciously or for a purpose other than bring the criminal defendant to justice." Luthe v. City of Cape May, 49 F. Supp.2d 380, 392 (D.N.J. 1999) (citing Gallo v. City of Philadelphia, 161 F.3d 217, 222 (3d Cir. 1998)). With respect to the third element of a malicious prosecution claim, a convicted plaintiff must show that his conviction has been either reversed, expunged, declared invalid, or is under review by a writ of habeas corpus in order to bring a claim for damages. Heck v. Humphrey, 512 U.S. 477, 486-87 (1994).

In the present case, on April 10, 2003, a jury in Superior Court, Criminal Part, Bergen County found Plaintiff guilty of violating N.J.S.A. 2C:12-3(b), the statute prohibiting "Terroristic Threats."<sup>5</sup> See Botta Cert., at ^|3. There is no evidence that this conviction has been reversed, expunged, declared invalid, or granted review by a writ of habeas corpus. Moreover, there is no allegation or evidence that the conviction was obtained through fraud, perjury or corruption. Under these circumstances, Plaintiff has not satisfied one of the essential elements of a malicious prosecution cause of action, and thus summary judgment is appropriate for Plaintiffs judgment on the false arrest claim.

<sup>5</sup> Specifically, the provision under which Plaintiff was convicted states that a "person is guilty of a crime in the third degree if he threatens to kill another with purpose to put him in imminent fear of death under circumstances reasonably causing the victim to believe the immediacy of the threat and the likelihood that it will be carried out." N.J.S.A. 2C:12-3(b).

claim against Defendant Conte for the terrorist threats' prosecution.

In his opposition brief, Plaintiff does not mention his arrest and prosecution for terroristic threats, but rather focuses on the weapons possession charges asserted against him. More specifically, Plaintiff claims that Defendant Conte should have investigated these charges prior to presenting the case at the probable cause hearing. Defendants contend that Conte is entitled to absolute immunity from liability.

Prosecutors are absolutely immune for actions performed in their official functions. Imbler v. Pachtman, 424 U.S. 430-31 (1976). Absolute immunity applies to all acts that are "intimately associated with the judicial phase of the criminal process." Id. at 430. By contrast, a prosecutor acting in an administrative or investigative capacity is protected by qualified immunity. Id. at 431 n.33.

To determine whether a prosecutor's conduct is shielded by absolute immunity, courts engage in a "functional" analysis, which looks to the nature of the function performed. Buckley v. Fitzsimmons, 509 U.S. 259, 269 (1993) (internal quotations omitted). In the present case, Defendant Conte's decision to initiate a criminal prosecution and to present evidence at a probable cause hearing are typical prosecutorial activities, and thus are protected by absolute immunity. Accordingly, summary judgment is granted in favor of Defendant Conte on all allegations of malicious prosecution for the weapons charges.

A3. Section 1985 and 1986 Claims Against Municipal Defendants

Plaintiff appears to allege a Section 1985 complaint against the Defendants. A Section 1985 claim requires proof of a conspiracy motivated by discriminatory animus, as well as an overt act and an injury. White v. Williams, 179 F.Supp. 2d 405, 421 (D.N.J. 2002) (citing Lake v. Arnold, 112 F.3d 682, 685 (3d Cir. 1997)). Plaintiff does not allege in his Complaint that Defendants acted with discriminatory animus. Absent this essential element, Plaintiffs Section 1985 claim is dismissed.

A claim under Section 1986 demands a prerequisite finding of a discriminatory conspiracy pursuant to Section 1985. Clark v. Clabaugh, 20 F.3d 1290, 1295 (3d Cir. 1994) (citing Rogin v. Bensalem Twp., 616 F.2d 680, 696 (3d Cir. 1980), cert. denied, 450 U.S. 1029 (1981)). As explained above, Plaintiff fails to allege that Defendants acted with discriminatory animus. Therefore, Plaintiff's claim under Section 1986 is dismissed.

A4.    *Liability Against the Borough of Oakland and the Borough of Oakland Police Department

Plaintiff seeks to hold the Borough of Oakland and the Borough of Oakland Police Department liable for the constitutional violations committed by the Defendant Officers. A municipality cannot be held liable under Section 1983 on a theory of respondeat superior or vicarious liability. Rather, a Plaintiff must show that the enforcement of some official policy or custom resulted in a constitutional violation suffered by the party. Monell v. Dep't of Soc. Serv. of City of N.Y., 436 U.S. 658, 694 (1978); Losch v. Borough of Parkersburg, 736 F.2d 903, 910 (3d Cir. 1984).

The Court has carefully examined the pro se complaint and Plaintiffs opposition brief. While Plaintiffs brief has cited the appropriate legal standard for municipal liability, Plaintiff has failed to identify an edict or proclamation issued by Borough of Oakland police officials or a custom or policy condoned by the Defendants that resulted in the alleged constitutional violations. Absent allegations and evidence of a specific policy that caused a constitutional violation, Plaintiffs claims against the Borough of Oakland and the Borough of Oakland police dismissed.

A5,    *Fourth, Fifth and Fourteenth Amendment Claims Against Municipal Defendants

Plaintiff broadly asserts violations of his Fourth, Fifth and Fourteenth Amendment rights. However, such claims must be brought under a specific statute and not directly under the constitution. Aiken v. Twp. of Morris, 1990 WL 119312, at *2 (D.N.J. Aug. 14, 1990)(c/rig Curry v. A.H. Robins Co., 775 F.2d 212, 220 (7th Cir. 1985)). Therefore, Plaintiffs claims under Section 1983 are the appropriate means of seeking relief and any claims brought directly pursuant to the Constitution are dismissed.

A6. *Allegations Against Defendant Mary Jean Culpepper

Plaintiff claims that his sister violated his Fifth and Fourteenth Amendment rights when she submitted false information to the police, which resulted in Plaintiffs arrest and detention for making terroristic threats. Because Defendant Culpepper, as a private party, cannot be held liable for alleged constitutional deprivations under Section 1983, all claims against her in reference to Plaintiffs wrongful arrest and prosecution are dismissed.

B. *Complaint Against Defendants Involved in Culpepper Estate Administration (02-CV-3902)

On July 5, 2001, Defendant Mary Jean Culpepper, represented by Defendant Peter Jeffer, filed a complaint in Bergen County to remove Plaintiff as co-executor of their father's estate. See 02-CV-3902 Complaint, at ¶ 34. The state court complaint alleged that Plaintiff refused to cooperate in the administration of the estate, and that he had threatened to shoot Defendant. On or about August 2, 2001, Plaintiff filed a separate complaint in Bergen County to have Defendant Culpepper removed as co-executor. See id. at ¶ 38. Defendant Theresa Doyle is Special Probate Counsel in Bergen County, responsible for supervising the Superior Chancery Division, Probate and for overseeing all Superior Court Probate actions. Apparently, Defendant Doyle physically accepted the documents Plaintiff filed with the Court.

On August 10, 2001, Defendant the Honorable Marguerite T. Simon, J.S.C. removed Plaintiff as co-executor and ordered him to leave the house by September 7, 2001. See Brief of Defendants' Simon and Gaeta ("Simon Brief"), at p. 4. Plaintiff then retained counsel, and filed for reconsideration of that decision. On September 21, 2001, Defendant Judge Simon not only affirmed her prior decision, but also removed Defendant Mary Jean Culpepper as co-executor and appointed an independent third-party, Defendant Joseph Rem, Esquire, as sole executor. See 02-CV-2963 Complaint, at ^J 51. Plaintiff filed an appeal with the Appellate Division, and on October 3, 2002, Judge Simon's order removing both Plaintiff and Defendant Mary Jean Culpepper as executors was affirmed.

Upon appointment, Defendant Rem retained Defendant Rem Zeller Law Group as attorneys to represent the estate. Defendants Robert Zeller and Rem are shareholders in the Rem Zeller Law Group. Defendant ERA Burgdorf Realtors was hired by Defendant Rem to list the Culpepper home. Defendant Mary Ellen Flannery served as the listing agent, and Defendant Randolph Wine acted as the listing broker. Defendant Rem contracted for the sale of the Culpepper home to Defendants Frank Risse and Catherine Risse.

Plaintiffs complaint also notes that on September

11, 2001, Plaintiff was scheduled to be arraigned before Defendant the Honorable Bruce A. Gaeta, J.S.C. regarding the criminal charges against him for the June 22, 2001, incident that is the subject of Plaintiffs companion civil rights case. Although this hearing was adjourned, Judge Gaeta raised Plaintiffs bail from $10,000 to $25,000 and ordered him to vacate the Culpepper estate that day, otherwise a warrant would be issued for his arrest. Plaintiffs federal civil rights complaint alleges that each of the named Defendants conspired to remove Plaintiff as co-executor and to sell the Culpepper home, thus violating Plaintiffs "right to due process." Plaintiff demands declaratory, injunctive, and compensatory damages. Most of the text of the Complaint appears to incorporate legal arguments that previously were presented to the New Jersey state courts regarding Plaintiffs removal as executor of the Culpepper estate.

BL Civil Rights Claims against Defendants Judge Marguerite Simon and Judge Bruce Gaeta

Plaintiff broadly asserts civil rights violations against Defendants Judge Marguerite Simon and Judge Bruce Gaeta pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § §1983, 1985, 1986, and 1988. See 02-CV-3902 Complaint, at U 1. Generously construed, the Complaint alleges that Judge Simon violated Plaintiffs Fourteenth Amendment Due Process rights when she ordered Plaintiffs eviction from the Culpepper house and his removal as executor of the Culpepper estate. Judge Gaeta allegedly violated Plaintiffs Fourteenth Amendment

Due Process rights when he "enforce[d] a civil matter and evict[ed] the Plaintiff and threatened] to jail him if he did not leave his home immediately." Id. at U 117.

Defendants argue, among other things, that Judges Simon and Gaeta are entitled to absolute immunity. See Simon Brief, at p. 15.

"It is a well-settled principle of law that judges are generally immune from a suit for money damages." Figueroa v. Blackburn, 208 F.3d 435, 440 (3d Cir. 2000). "A judge will not be deprived of immunity because the action he took was in error, was done maliciously, or was in excess of his authority." Stump v. Sparkman, 435 U.S. 349, 356-57 (1978)(citation omitted). On the other hand, a judge is not immune from liability for nonjudicial actions and for actions taken in the complete absence of jurisdiction. Mireles v. Waco, 502 U.S. 9, 11-12 (1991).

In the present case, all of the actions allegedly committed by Judges Simon and Gaeta -namely, conducting hearings and issuing and signing orders- were judicial in nature. See Stump, 435 U.S. at 363-64 ("Disagreement with the action taken by the judge . . . does not justify depriving that judge of his immunity."). Furthermore, although Plaintiff asserts that the Defendant Judges "lacked subject matter jurisdiction" (see Plaintiffs Brief, at p. 8), the allegations in the Complaint do not indicate that either Judge Simon or Judge Gaeta acted in the clear absence of all jurisdiction. As Judges of the Superior Court of New Jersey, Defendants Simon and that involved the Plaintiff. To the extent that Plaintiff alleges that the Defendant Judges improperly decided Plaintiffs state court matters, any legal errors do not establish that they acted in the clear absence of jurisdiction. See id. at 359 ("A judge is absolutely immune from liability for his judicial acts even if his exercise of authority is flawed by the commission of grave procedural errors."). Accordingly, Defendants Simon and Gaeta are entitled to absolute immunity and Plaintiffs claims for monetary relief against them are barred. Section 1983 precludes injunctive relief against a judicial officer "for an act or omission taken in such officer's judicial capacity . . . unless a declaratory decree was violated or declaratory relief was unavailable." 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Plaintiffs Complaint fails to allege that either of these conditions has been met, and therefore his claim for injunctive relief against Defendant Simon and Gaeta is dismissed as well.

B2. Allegations Against the Private Individuals

A liberal reading of the complaint suggests that the named private parties conspired with Judge Simon, who ordered Plaintiff evicted from the Culpepper house and removed as co-executor of the Culpepper estate. This conspiracy allegedly resulted in the deprivation of Plaintiffs Fourteenth Amendment Due Process rights, specifically his property rights in the Culpepper house. The conspiracy allegations are necessary in order for Plaintiff to attempt to establish that the private individuals were acting "under color of state law" for purposes of pleading a

Section 1983 claim. See Melo v. Hafer, 912 F.2d 628, 638

(3d Cir. 1990) (stating that private parties who conspire with state officials to deprive an individual of his or her constitutional rights are acting "under color of state law.").

In the present case, Plaintiff has alleged no specific facts to support the otherwise bare assertions that the private parties conspired with Judge Simon to deprive Plaintiff of his property. "A complaint cannot survive a motion to dismiss if it contains only conclusory allegations of conspiracy, but does not support those allegations with averments of the underlying facts." Moyer v. Borough of North Wales, 2000 WL 875704, at *2 (E.D. Pa. June 22, 2000)(c/Ymg Flanagan v. Shively, 783 F.Supp. 922, 929 (M.D.Pa.), affd, 980 F.2d 722 (3d Cir.), cert. denied, 510 U.S. 829 (1993)). The Complaint contains no allegations or factual support that the private parties entered into an agreement with Judge Simon or that an agreement to deprive Plaintiff of his rights even existed. The mere fact that Defendants Mary Jean Culpepper, Jeffer, Flannery, Wine, Rem, Zeller, the Risse's, ERA Burgdorf, and the Rem Zeller Law Group were involved, in various capacities, in the sale of the Culpepper house or the administration of the Culpepper estate in no way implicates them in a conspiracy to deprive Plaintiff of his constitutional rights. Likewise, Defendant Doyle's conduct - filing Plaintiffs court documents for his case that was heard by Defendant Judge Simon - does not provide a factual basis by which the Court can infer a conspiracy. Accordingly, the Complaint fails to state a claim for a Section 1983 conspiracy against the private parties Complaint fails to state a claim for a Section 1983 conspiracy against the private parties.<sup>6</sup>

B3. Section 1983 Claim Against Defendant Bergen County

Plaintiff alleges that Defendant Bergen County is liable for the acts of Defendants Simon and Gaeta under the doctrine of respondent superior. See 02-CV-3902 Complaint, at f 17. However, these Defendants are employed by the State of New Jersey, not by Defendant Bergen County. Furthermore, even if the Defendant Judges were county employees, Bergen County cannot be held liable under a theory of respondeat superior or vicarious liability. See Section A4., supra. Thus, Bergen County is dismissed from this action.

CONCLUSION

Judge Marguerite Simon, Judge Bruce Gaeta, Rem Zeller Law Group, Joseph Rem, Robert Zeller, Theresa Doyle, ERA Burgdorf Realtors, Mary Ellen Flannery, Randolph Wine, Peter Jeffer, Mary Jean Culpepper, Bergen County, Frank Risse, Catherine Risse, Captain Robert Hammerle, Chief James O'Connor, Borough of Oakland, Officer Mark Piercy, Borough of

<sup>6</sup>To the extent that Plaintiff has asserted a state law claim for slander against Defendant Rem Zeller Law Group, this allegation must be dismissed as a matter of law because it is protected by the litigation privilege. Plaintiff claims that Defendant Rem Zeller Law Group made slanderous statements about Plaintiff in a Respondent's Brief filed with the New Jersey Supreme Court. This brief was filed in support of a motion to deny certification of Plaintiff's appeal of his removal as co-executor.

Litigation privilege applies to "any communication (1) made in judicial or quasi-judicial proceedings; (2) by litigants or other participants authorized by law; (3) to achieve the objects of the litigation; and (4) that have some connection or logical relation to the action." Thomas v. Ford Motor Co., 137 F.Supp.2d 575, 582 (3d Cir. 2001) (quoting Hawkins v. Harris, 141 N.J. 207, 216 (1995)). Defendants' Brief clearly satisfies all four elements, and thus any statements in the brief are immune from liability.

Oakland Police Department, Officer Frank Fiori, John Conte, Jr., and Officer Brian Coglin are dismissed entirely from this action and Plaintiffs consolidated Complaint is dismissed in its entirety.
